A YOUNG ACTOR
IN A SUIT SEES HIS CRAFT AS STRUCTURED VULNERABILITY.
IT'S A DISCI-PLINED ART OF REVEALING TRUTH. HE BE-LIEVES THE SUIT IS ARMOR, BUT
THE MAN INSIDE
MUST BE BRAVE ENOUGH TO FEEL EVERYTHING, TRANSFORMING PERSONAL CHAOS
INTO UNIVERSAL,
HONEST PERFOR-MANCE.

SPRING AND THE BOY

*White as the first blossom, he sits, head bowed—
a young god wrapped in silence,
weighing the world's lightness.
Outside, petals fall like whispered promises. He doesn't notice.
Spring is too young to understand the weight of becoming.*
